REBELS DRIVE PROTESTANTS FROM HOMES IN IRELAND

Republicans And Free Staters Raid Ulster

ARMS MILLS BUSY

Churchill Says Munition Making Is Not Formidable

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 30.—Fierce fighting is reported from Fermanagh. Republicans entered the strong Orange center of Pettigo and, joining hands with the Free Staters, drove out the Protestant businessmen and occupied their houses. The rebels then crossed the border and captured more houses. Refugees are pouring into Enniskillen.

In the course of a series of questions in the House of Commons today with regard to the reports of an invasion of Ulster, Lieut.-Colonel Ashley attempted to move an adjournment to draw attention to the "refusal of the Government to use British troops to defend Ulster" but the Speaker declined the motion on the ground that troops must only act at the request of the Ulster Government.

Replying to a question with regard to munition factories in Ireland alleged to be working full time, Mr. Winston Churchill said that he had been informed that certain munition factories in Dublin were working but he had heard nothing leading him to suppose that anything formidable was proceeding. He pointed out that the Provisional Government was entitled to work the factories but large manufacture or importation of munitions would have to be very seriously considered.

London, May 30.—Winston Churchill told the House of Commons that the British government has stopped the delivery of munitions to the Irish provisional government.

Peking Requests Vickers Payment

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 31.—It is announced that the Chinese Government, as a result of negotiations, has requested Messrs. Vickers, Limited to pay the coupon due on April last out of certain funds in the hands of Messrs. Vickers, Limited belonging to the Chinese Government.

This payment exhausts these funds. In view of the past difficulties in the payment of these coupons, negotiations are now proceeding to obtain specific security on the increased Maritime Customs revenue instead of the special security granted by the Chinese Government on surplus salt revenue, which is never actively effective.

American School Students To Appear At Rotarians' Tiffin

Seventy-five students of the American School will entertain the members of the Shanghai Rotary Club at the regular weekly tiffin today by giving excerpts from the operetta "Bulbul" which they are to present during the commencement exercises next week.

The Rotary Club tiffin this week is being held at the Carlton Cafe, instead of at the Union Club, and the program is expected to be of unusual interest.

Astor Summer Pavilion Opens; New Floor, New Music--Everybody There

Summer "has came."

If there were any lingering doubts about this they were dispelled at last evening's official opening of the summer dancing pavilion at the Astor House.

All Shanghai was there! And a colorful spectacle it was! Last year the Astor's summer pavilion was a pretty place, with its glass roof and its dancing floor with variegated lights. But this year—oh Boy!

First of all, the lights are a hundredfold more variegated than ever.

But maskee the lights: the thing about this year's summer pavalion at the Astor is the floor. You should see it! Or glide over it!

The dancing floor at the new Astor pavilion was built for dancing, and no mistake! Last year the Astor management sort of—er—"fumbled,"—so to speak, the dancing floor. They built a beautiful pavilion, with all kinds of colored lights, and that sort of thing, and these, they figured, would be sufficient, especially in view of the fact that Earl Currens' jazz orchestra was there to furnish the music.

But it was not quite sufficient. It was almost, but "not quite." Before the season was a week old the managers of the ever popular Astor were regretful that they had not put down a "real" dancing floor. The floor they provided was not bad. Measured by any except Shanghai standards it was a real floor, but for Shanghai, it didn't quite "reach," so to speak.

So this year the management decided that the floor would be thoroughly in keeping with the music, the lighting, and the general surroundings of the pavilion.

So they put in a floor that is, technically speaking, "some" floor!

Poor Jack Klass! At last night's official opening of the pavilion, the Shanghai steppers, after one whirl over the new surface, hunted up Jack, and asked:

"Say, Jack, What thing?"

"What thing yourself?" asked Jack.

"What thing this new floor?"

Also: "How come? Suppose no can stand up on new floor!"

"Maybe more better you catchee rubber heels," said Jack, and that was the best you could get out of Jack.

And take it from us: More better you do that identical thing, namely, catchee rubber heels!

Earl Currens' orchestra was never better than last night. Heretofore, Earl has been more or less—er—what you might call "close" with his music. That is to say, enough was enough! But last night, due to the new surroundings, the beautiful lighting effects, the marvelous floor, etc. etc., etc., ad infinitum, Earl loosened up. He played all the encores desired, which meant that he was busy playing all the time.

All the foregoing is by way of leading up to the statement that the Astor summer pavilion is just about the last word in places to spend a pleasant summer evening. The lighting effects are beautiful beyond words. The decorations are bewitching. The music is the best in the East. The service is prompt, courteous and efficient.

And the new dance floor—well, to be safe, you'd better have the old pumps reinforced with O'Sullivans, or Catspaws, or Weed Chains.

Take it from us: the new Astor floor is a humdinger!

A thousand couples were present at last night's opening. That is a conservative estimate, not based on the statements of the floor managers to whom were delegated the task of finding chairs and tables for the guests.

Taking their word for it, no less than a million were present.

MANUAL TRAINING SCHOOL WILL BE OPENED SHORTLY

Meeting Held And Definite Announcement Will Be Made Shortly

Yesterday afternoon a meeting was held at the Carlton Cafe to discuss the new Sloyd School which has been formed by Captain Hansen. Among those present were Dean Symons, Sub-dean Spencer, Captain A. S. Malcolm, Captain Hansen, Messrs. A. Black, Jensen, Arthur, and Graham-Barrow.

Mr. Graham Barrow, the chairman called the meeting to order shortly after 5 p.m. and in his brief address introduced Captain Hansen, the Sloyd instructor, as being the ideal man for a position which should be a distinct asset to the community.

The first business of the meeting was to elect an advisory committee to help Captain Hansen. Messrs G. M. Billings, A. J. Stewart and E. P. Graham Barrow were appointed.

The new school is situated at 11 Ningpo Road and a visit to it showed that it was not only well equipped with material but also ambitious enough to appeal confidently to every side of the community. It was decided to open the school to both foreigners and Chinese and there can be little doubt that it will fulfil a distinct necessity.

The meeting of the advisory committee to perfect final arrangements with regard to the opening of the school will be held within the next few days.

Water Company Purchase Again Being Considered By Municipal Authorities

Council Sees No Hope Of Agreement On Service And Will Refer Matter To Special Committee

Consideration of the advisability of the Municipality purchasing the Waterworks Company, in view of failure to make progress in the negotiations between Council and company in matters of tariff and service, is again to be undertaken, according to correspondence published in today's issue of the Municipal Gazette.

The announcement by the Council that the members have decided to refer the question of purchase back to the Special Waterworks Committee created in 1918 is in reply to a lengthy communication from the Waterworks Company containing further proposals and counter-proposals. This communication, the Council decided, held out no particular prospect of agreement and the reference to the committee will be made at an early date, the report by the latter body to be laid before the ratepayers.

Following is the communication addressed to the Council under date of February 27 by Mr. F. B. Pitcairn, Engineer-in-Chief and Manager of the Waterworks Company, and the reply by Mr. N. O. Liddell, Secretary and Commissioner General, on behalf of the Council:

Sir.—I am directed to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 3rd instant upon the subject of the various matters outstanding between the Council and the company in connection with the water supply.

HOPE SEEN IN 1921

In my letter of June 8, 1921 it was stated that the proposals made in the Council's letter of April 13, 1921 were, generally speaking, so framed as to form a reasonable basis for negotiations, discussion of certain details only being necessary. This amounted virtually to acceptance, but your letter now under reply contains new proposals involving such a measure of control as, in the opinion of my directors, could only be acquired by purchase of the undertaking, and, benefiting as they would from the present enhanced market value of the company's property, such alternative would, my directors consider, be more advantageous to shareholders than acquiescence in such proposals; for these new proposals, more especially those pertaining to finance, are such as to render the company analogous to a municipal department while the directors are left with the responsibility of providing the necessary capital.

My directors would remind the Council that the primary object of the proposed modification of the agreement of 1905 is to provide a more efficient supply of water, for it is owing to its efforts in that direction that the company is no longer in the favorable position that it was to attract further capital for that object, and has in consequence requested that the ratio between revenue and consumption be adjusted.

With the view therefore to attaining such primary object, my directors have examined with great care the proposals contained in your letter and I am now directed to set forth the conclusions they have come to and the terms upon which they are prepared to meet the Council's requirements so far as is in their power while safeguarding the interests both of shareholders and consumers.

FAVOR SLIDING SCALE

1.—It is noted that the Council concurs that a sliding scale of minimum rates with a uniform rate for water consumed in excess should form the basis of the meter tariff to be adopted, but the suggestion that the sliding scale should be based on consumption only, while attractive in theory, is difficult of application, and it was on this account that the consumption plus rental basis was suggested; for although consumption may be said to be the basis of the existing meter rate for purposes of trade, business and manufacture, a sliding scale of meter rates must, to be equitable, have some relation to the size of the premises; the only practical alternative, in my directors' opinion, is that the meter rates should be based upon the size of the meter and if the Council thinks it desirable they are willing that the consumer should have the right to demand a meter of a smaller size than is proposed by the company. The Council and the company being in agreement upon the principle of the sliding scale of meter rates, my directors are of course quite willing to consider further representations from the Council in regard to this matter.

Based on my directors' proposals in regard to the other matters dealt with in your letter, the detailed meter tariff of rates at which the company will be prepared to supply water during the five years ensuing from the coming into force of such modified agreement as may result from these negotiations, is being drawn up and will be sent to you in the course of a few days, it being considered desirable that my directors' views in regard to such other matters should be in the Council's possession at the earliest possible moment and should not be delayed pending the completion of such tariff.

2.—My directors' proposals in regard to the tariff for water consumed for other than domestic purposes will be embodied in the detailed meter tariff referred to above.

SUPPLY SAFEGUARDS

3.—In regard to the problem that arises in the matter of safeguarding landlords of blocks of Chinese houses against excessive consumption of water by their tenants my directors are willing at any time to experiment with any mechanical

WELCOME GIVEN NEW ATTORNEY FOR U.S. COURT

Tiffin And Dinner Given In Honor Of Mr. L. G. Husar

American members of the legal and other professions yesterday gave welcome to Mr. Leonard G. Husar, newly appointed United States District Attorney, who arrived in Shanghai to take up his post by the Admiral Line steamer President Jefferson. Mr. Husar, who takes up his duties immediately, was entertained at tiffin yesterday by Major C. P. Holcomb, retiring U. S. District Attorney, and at a beef-steak dinner last night given in his honor at the Point Hotel by Mr. H. D. Rodger.

Mr. Husar, who comes from Los Angeles, was sworn in on March 31 while in the States and is thoroughly conversant with the situation now existing at the American Court. He stated yesterday that he was expecting word of the procedure to Shanghai shortly of a judge of the United States Court for China, but emphasised that the Lobingier-Fleming matter was now in the hands of President Harding and that word of developments in this connection must necessarily come directly from that source.

Over a score of guests, including members of the American bar and others gathered at Major Holcomb's home yesterday noon to extend greetings to the new District Attorney while thirty-odd were present last night when Mr. Rodger was host to Mr. Husar and also to Mr. E. E. Selph, who goes to Manila shortly.

The guests at the tiffin included United States Consul-General Cunningham, American Assessors Tenny and Jacobs of the Mixed Court, Mr. Sterling Fessenden, Mr. F. W. Hadley, Mr. M. L. Heen, Mr. P. F. New Sugar Cane Harvesting Machine Will Revolutionise Industry

GEORGE D. Luce, of New Orleans, has invented a sugar cane harvester which bids fair to revolutionise the sugar industry. For 3,000 years the sugar crop of the world has been harvested by hand. The machine solves the labor problem and quickly harvests vast fields of cane. The machine, with inset of the inventor, is shown here.

Lack Of Tourist Trade Handicapped Ananias

By Elsie McCormick

Ananias may have dropped dead under circumstances calling for a coroner's inquest, but it evidently didn't happen until he had established a large family. If you have any doubt about the perpetuation of the species, you need only climb a few columns of San Francisco or Seattle newspapers the day after a boat arrives from the Orient. You can usually identify the column you are looking for by the picture of the young lady with the silk hose sitting on a stack of life-preservers. You than lift your eyes to the headlines and by carefully reading from left to right, you can learn more about China in five minutes than you could by signing chits here for five years.

The things that happened to the young ladies on the life-preservers are startling enough to upset the digestion of a cephalopod. The bandits they foiled, the pirates they fought and the men they nearly married would, if placed in a straight line, extend from the corner of Nanking Road and the Bund to the ablative absolute. Some of them escaped death at the hands—on rather the jaws—of a peevish shark; others swallowed their diamond rings when Chinese pirates boarded the liner at Woosung; and at least one of them was proposed to forty-six times by the marriage-mad men of Shanghai who watch the landing of every ship in the hope that a white girl will visit their foresaken city on the edge of mystic Asia.

THE ONE-TRACK CEREBRUM

Despite the fact that they have just taken a round trip, the young ladies of the generous hosiery display apparently believe that the Pacific is open only to one-way traffic. The thought that newspapers can travel across an ocean and be perused by the marriage-mad men or friends who know the inside of the bandit episodes never seems to find lodgment under their ear-puffs.

For instance, one young lady who landed in San Francisco informed the breathless reporters that ricsha coolies receive fifty dollars from their tongs for every foreign girl whom they kidnap. She learned this fact through a cruel experience of her own, which occurred in Canton where the four bearers of her ricsha conveyed her into a narrow street, bound her, gagged her, and carried her off to a sampan. While floating down the current of the Pearl River to an unknown destination, she displaced the gag, emitted a half-smothered shout, and was rescued by a number of American navy officers who happened to be passing in a launch. The story, which did not even appear in the comic section, was solemnly cut out by about 968 mothers at home and forwarded to that many young women in the Far East, pencil notations on the margin requesting daughter to stay away from ricsnas, especially if they had four bearers.

Then there was that other young lady who "foiled a sea-bandit" at Woosung. The "bandit" having demonstrated his criminal tendencies by staring open-mouthed into the stateroom window while the lady was powdering her nose the lady "foiled" him by drawing the curtain. This little incident was expended into two columns of type and two yards of clocked hosiery.

HOW AWED WE WERE!

A third lady, photographed clutching a chow-dog, related to the press that her only protection against the thronging suitors of Shanghai was a feigned engagement ring worn on the appropriate finger. "Girl's Betrothal Ring Awes Suitors" says the headline, and the caption under the photograph describes her as "a charming society girl who saved herself from embarras-

WILLIAMS, FAISON AND FRANKLIN JOIN FORCES

Shanghai is to have a new law firm, it was announced yesterday, Judge Cornell S. Franklin, formerly of Honolulu, Paul F. Faison, and Judge D. R. Williams, formerly of the firm of Williams, Faison and Sycip, have joined forces, and from today will practice under the firm name of Williams, Franklin and Faison. The new firm will have offices in the Glen Line building.

Judge Williams formerly practiced in the Philippines, where he was judge of the Philippine court of Land Registration in Manila.

Judge Franklin, while a comparatively recent arrival in Shanghai, comes here with an enviable reputation, achieved largely in the Hawaiian islands, where he was for several years a distinguished barrister, followed by a term in the Attorney General's office as assistant, after which he was first judge of the First Hawaiian Judicial Circuit, an appointment he received from former President Wilson, at Paris.

Judge Franklin resigned this post in order to enter the practice of law in Shanghai.

Although he has been in Shanghai only a short time Judge Franklin has won a host of friends. He is vice commander of the Frederick Ward Post of the American Legion.

Some blind Chinese lads sang the hymn "Coming, coming, yes we are" in English. Subsequently the band of the blind Chinese lads played the National Anthem excellently before Her Majesty.

WU TURNS ON OLD HSU; 'MUST QUIT, OR WILL BE DISPLACED'

President To Blame For China's Woes, He Says

OPEN DEFIANCE

Thirteen Provinces Agree To Recall Parliament

Staff Correspondent the China Press

Paotingfu, May 31.—General Wu Pei-fu today turned openly and definitely against President Hsu Shih-chang.

He declared that President Hsu is responsible for the present war.

He asserted that President Hsu is responsible for the Anfu conflict.

He holds the President blameworthy for most of China's troubles, and said that he must either resign or be driven out, because he is the greatest obstacle to China's reunification and is responsible for the majority of China's troubles.

General Wu Pei-fu told foreign correspondents today that the leaders of thirteen provinces now have agreed to recall the Old Parliament. Definitely he specified these provinces—Chihli, Honan, Shantung, Hupeh, Hunan, Shanst, Shensi, Kansu, Kiangsi, Kiangsu, Szechuen, Yunnan, and Kweichow.

Particularly significant is his assertion that General Chen Chuin-ming has promised his support for the project to call the Old Parliament, whose members will hold their preliminary session in Tientsin.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 31.—With the movement against him in the Chinese Eastern Railway zone spreading and General Wu Pei-fu's forces advancing to Shanhaikuan, General Chang Tso-lin's position is daily becoming more difficult. The fact that General Chang Tso-lin went to Mukden yesterday indicates that he realises the significance of General Kao Hsih-ping's activities but it is also reported that other difficulties are cropping up such as military disaffection, while reports from reliable sources state that 10,000 Fengtien soldiers at Shanhaikuan have been dismissed on charges of looting and other offences, proving the Fengtien soldiers' morale to have greatly suffered since they came to Chihli.

General Sun Lieh-chun remains in command at Shanhaikuan but the troops at Changli with the exception of the outposts have entrained and are ready to retire. The Fengtien troops are withdrawing from Peitaiho and Chinwangtao: General Wu Pei-fu's advanced guards have reached Shimen.

In the Chinese Eastern Railway zone General Kao Hsih-ping met with conspicuous success. His troops reached Hailin on May 27 which he captured on May 28, many of the defenders deserting to General Kao Hsih-ping's side. The railway from Pogranitchnaia to Imianpo is now in the hands of General Kao Hsih-ping, who reached Pogranitchnaia from Vladivostok on May 28.

The relation between General Hsu Shih-chang's commands and the troops at Ninguta and their attitude are being watched with keen interest. The sentiment of the Chinese population in Harbin is said to be veering strongly against General Chang Tso-lin. Three thousand troops left Mukden to fight against General Kao Hsih-ping's forces while a further 4,000 left for Harbin, according to Mukden reports.

General Chang Tso-lin expects to suppress General Kao Hsih-ping's movement. The latter possesses twenty guns, a fair supply of machine guns and an armored train.

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Peking, May 28.—A number of former non-commissioned officers of the 16th Division visited the Ministry of War yesterday with the request that the Ministry should instruct their former Commandant, General Tsou Fen, to pay them the wages due for several months. The men were received by a secretary and were informed that their case would be brought to the attention of General Tsou.

The Commandant of the Peking Garrison has issued another proclamation saying that the stragglers of the Fengtien forces have all been rounded up and sent back to their homes and that the gates of the city will be kept open in the future.

Mr. Hang Hsiang, Acting Vice-Minister of Finance, took up his new post yesterday.

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Peking, May 30.—General Tsai Cheng-hsun, Commander-in-Chief of the Kiangsi reinforcements, has requested the Military Council to attach to his command the Second Brigade, which recently arrived from Chahar.

General Tsai will shortly leave for Paotingfu to meet the Commandant of the Honan Yichun, which is probably being converted into a mixed brigade. He apparently has reason to expect additional reinforcements from Kiangsu and Anhui.

Wu Asks Sun To Outline His Ideas

(Eastern News Agency)

Canton, May 30.—General Wu Pei-fu has addressed a circular telegram to leading political leaders of the South, including Dr. Sun Yat-sen, General Chen Chiung-ming and Dr. Wu Ting-fang, requesting them to express their views with regard to the suspension of the anti-northern campaign as well as the unification of the whole country on the following condition:—

To reconvoke the old Parliament.

To reinstate General Li Yuan-hung as President of the united China simultaneously with the reconvening of the old Parliament.

To enact a constitution drawn by the old Parliament and to convoke a new Parliament and elect a new President in accordance with the constitution thus enacted.

In this connection, the attitude of Dr. Sun Yat-sen is being watched with keen interest by the political circles here.

Chinese Press Telegrams On The Situation

According to latest news, the personnel of the Wang Shih-chen cabinet will consist of: Dr. W. W. Yen, Minister of Foreign Affairs; Kao Ling-wei, Minister of Interior; Tung Kang, Minister of Finance; Kao En-hung, Minister of Communications; Pao Kuei-ching, Minister of Army; Chou Tse-chi, Minister of Agriculture and Commerce; Sah Chen-pin (or in case of Sah's refusal, Li Ting-hsin), Minister of Navy; Dr. Wang Chung-hui, Minister of Justice; and Li Kuo-chen, Minister of Education. Hui Pao-hui will be made Chief Secretary of the Cabinet.

Sounded by the Consular Body at Tientsin as to his own intention regarding the proposal of reinstating him in the office of President, Li Yuan-hung said: "Personally I would rather not be president again, but if the nation is eager that I should become president once more, I shall only do so under two conditions.

"The first is that the system of the Tuchunate be abolished; and the second is that the army be considerably reduced."

This statement has been communicated to the Diplomatic Corps which, it is reported, is disposed to support Li Yuan-hung if he is in a position to assume the presidency under these condition which would serve to retrieve the nation from its present chaotic situation.

In a telegraphic report sent by an American officer at Luanchow, it is stated that Chang Tso-lin is making preparations for another offensive.

Urgent telegrams have been received from Tuchun Chen Kuang-yuan for reinforcements. Tsai Cheng-hsun, Commander-in-Chief of the reinforcement forces, has notified the Government that he will proceed to Kiangsi on condition that the Government will settle the pay of the 1st Division, which has been in arrears for three months. The sum of $100,000 has already been paid to Tsai for the initial expenses to march his troops Southward.

MEMORIAL TO LINCOLN NOW NATION'S SHRINE

Harding And Taft Are Speakers At Dedication

(China Press Service)

Washington, May 30.—President Harding today accepted the Lincoln Memorial, the marble gem which stands across the Potomac overlooking Washington, on behalf of the nation.

He declared that the maintenance of the nationality of the Union, rather than emancipation of slaves constituted the supreme chapter in American history. He said that Lincion would have compromised with slavery in order to cling to his greatest purpose, the maintenance of "the inheritance handed down by our fathers who founded it."

He said that George Washington, the founder, and Abraham Lincoln, the savior of the American nation were in themselves outstanding proof that representatives of the American government can find their way to pay for the accomplishment of their salvation.

Referring to Lincoln as the greatest of presidents, Harding said:

"No leader ever was more unsparingly criticised, or more bitterly assailed until he drank from as bitter a cup as was ever put to human lips.

"His great patience was never exhausted for the great crisis and left the union unchallenged for all time."

Ex-President Taft, presenting the memorial to the President for the American people said:

"The influence of Lincoln still wields, one may say with all reverence, his Christlike character. It has spread to the four quarters of the globe."

Petition Authorities To Restrict Issue Of Lightweight Coins

Local Bodies Issue Telegram Fearing Financial Panic

The Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, the Chinese Chamber of Commerce in the City, the Chinese Bankers' Association, the Native Bankers' Guild have sent a joint telegram to the Ministry of Finance, the Ministry of Communications, the Customs Inspectorate, and the Currency Bureau at Peking regarding the question of suppressing the evils of excessive circulation of lightweight copper coins. Copies of the telegram were also addressed to the Tuchun and Civil Governor of Kiangsu and to the Defense Commissioner here.

The Government is asked at once to put a stop to the minting of such coins and to suppress the conveyance of such coins from place to place. It is pointed out in the petition that although sometime ago the Government did issue an order forbidding the minting of these coins, that order was ineffectual because the provinces of Chihli and Hupeh were exempted from the prohibition, Anhui rescinded the order and the Government's instructions meant nothing to Hunan and Szechuen. The result was that the number of lightweight copper coins in circulation here increased rapidly. From the rate of 150 copper coins to the dollar, the rate rose to something like 170 copper coins.

The four associations urge the Government to carry out three measures to remedy the situation: (1) to stop the shipment of copper by confiscating any copper mineral found in transit after the promulgation of the order; (2) to instruct the Customs authorities and the railway authorities to keep a very strict watch against smuggling of copper coins; and (3) to undertake to accept these coins for the payment of official revenue such as land tax and other taxes without charging any discount.

"Without these steps being taken," say the petitioners, "there will sooner or later be a financial panic of some sort because the masses cannot bear the strain of economic hardships in that the cost of living gets higher and higher while their income is at a standstill. What is true of the poor people is also true of the shops."

HOW TO "GROW" A NEW COMPLEXION

These are the days of "hustling." In a week we see and do more than our grandmothers did in a year. We are gradually turning nature to be our servant; we use her great forces against herself. We have conquered sea and sky, now our doctors are fighting not only disease, but old age. There is talk of rejuvenating human beings by the injection of animal glands, but as yet, only the few can avail themselves of the treatment.

There is, however, one secret of perpetual youth that is in the reach of everyone. Scientists now realise that the only way of keeping the skin young and fresh is to examine Nature's methods and to find some way of imitating her.

SCIENTIFIC BEAUTY.

In order to explain the new method of keeping the complexion perpetually youthful, one must understand something of the nature of the skin. A baby's skin is always clear and smooth because the outer layer is always invisibly peeling off, and new layers are forming just as fast underneath, so that the exposed skin is always fresh, unwrinkled and "new."

For the first few years of our lives, this peeling is a purely natural process, but as we grow older, we gradually lose the power of throwing off our old soiled outer skins, so that our complexions become lined and yellow, and the new skin has no chance to show itself.

A few years ago, a scientific chemist realised that a little-known substance called mercolised wax, was exactly what was needed to "keep nature up to the mark." It appears that this substance, which is now universally obtainable, gently and painlessly assists nature in throwing off the soiled outer cuticle. The skin is thus perpetually renewed, and a clear youthful complexion can be preserved to any age. (Advt.)

sing marriage proposals in China by novel practice." We predict that if many more stories appear about the number of Shanghai suitors there will be an invasion of young women courageously willing to face 'embarrassing marriage proposals' and they won't wear any protecting engagement rings, either.

Passing lightly over the lady sitting with crossed knees on a gang-plank and telling about a battle with a Peking highwaymen, we come to the fair voyager who tried to pass out a few ideas on Far Eastern social conditions. The wickedness of Shanghai, she informed the Fourth Estate, is being submerged under a wave of reform, Dr. Sun Yat-sen having closed a cafe known as "The Trenches" and a gambling establishment that operated under the name of "The Wheel." Dr. Sun and his constitutional government have so modified Shanghai, she remarked, that the bright lights have faded into a grayish glimmer. It must have been the same young lady who inspired another article about hundreds of Chinese women marching on the Shanghai Municipal Council and demanding the vote.

MALES ALSO QUALIFY

Our many references to interviews with young ladies does not mean that all of Ananias' family is feminine. We hear more about their adventures not because men do not like to talk, but because masculine hosiery is less artistic. A University of California man informed the San Francisco press last summer that he had made a perilous journey from Hongkong to Canton in a "native jug," that the little craft had been attacked by pirates, and that he had killed several of the Chinese sea-wolves with his own hands. This little sample shows what some of the men could do if the reporters would only listen to them, instead of focusing the camera on the more picturesque flappers.

The recent unpleasantness between Messrs. Wu Pei-fu and Chang Tso-lin has furnished the returned travelers with a platinum mine of material. Every passenger to arrive on the Pacific Coast since the beginning of the tea-fight was the last person to leave Peking before the outbreak of hostilities. They usually escaped by motoring hastily from Peking to Shanghai or by sailing on a coasting vessel from Peking to Tientsin. Like Old Bill of the "Better 'Ole," the returned tourists will miss this war when it's really over.

And may we offer in closing the modest suggestion that Szechuen is at least a full day's journey from the coast? Likewise that the "Villalobos" is the name of a United States gunboat and not of a Chinese town which the Marines left just before proceeding to Changsha? These remarks having been made, the Ananias Society will be considered adjourned until the next bundle of papers arrive from the United States.

Zimbalist

There should have been a capacity audience at the Olympic Theater last night. Unfortunately, there was not, and the several hundred Shanghai men and women who might have been present at the recital of Efrem Zimbalist, but were not, can find one consoling thought today—they will have another and a last opportunity to hear this genius of the violin on Saturday night at the same theater.

To those who appreciate the real artistry of the man, the fact that there was not a larger turn-out of Shanghai music-lovers last night was somewhat tragic. There are several explanations, none of them reflecting in the slightest measure on Mr. Zimbalist himself. Perhaps the most logical is that Mr. Zimbalist's return engagement came in the nature of a surprise and was given a wholly insufficient amount of advance publicity.

Another artist might have found conditions such as Zimbalist encountered last night disappointing. But he, despite the annoyance of a ten-minute wait on-stage before the opening of the recital while the theater lights were being adjusted, went through with his scheduled program with a brilliance and sincerity which would have been worthy of an appearance before any metropolitan audience of thousands abroad. The audience, such as it was, appreciated the spirit fully, and what they lacked in numbers, they made up in round after round of applause and insistent demands for encores. At the conclusion of both the first and second sections of his program, Mr. Zimbalist responded graciously, playing in the latter instance a Sarasate number which left with all of his hearers a final charming memory of the beauty of his playing.

The program which Mr. Zimbalist played showed exceptional care in its arrangement. It offered, in Mozart's Concerto in A and Lalo's Symphonie Espagnole, the first two numbers, a remarkable exhibition of the technique which has fixed Zimbalist as one of the really great violinists of all times. And in the second section of the program, there came a series of delightful melodies—Drigo's "Serenade," "Abend Lied" by Schumann-Joachim, and "Zigeunerweisen," by Sarasate—which gave those who "feel" more than they "know" in music the opportunity to sit back with reverently closed eyes, moved to the very soul by every delicate nuance.

Throughout, Zimbalist gave every evidence of being a real artist. Under his touch, the violin in a wonderful series of harmonics, invoked a thousand moods, throbbing one moment in the low liquid tones of the cello and then, life-like renditions aided no little in the like, but pure and golden echoing effective ensemble. Mr. Gregory Ashman accompanied at the piano and his sympathetic

"I know I should carry more life insurance, but I want to pay my present debts first."

"THAT'S a fine idea if you live; but if you were to die beforehand, would your creditors be paid? Of course you will pay if you live. Make certain of it if you die. Life insurance has been paying the debts of honest men for a number of years, and we wonder if you would not like us to guarantee to cancel yours if you have not been able to pay them off before your death. Also, you probably wish to pay off your oldest obligation first, don't you? The debt to your family is the oldest obligation. Sufficient life insurance will provide for it."

Macao Is Quiet Again; Death List 74, Hongkong Hears

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, May 31.—An official telegram reports that Macao is now quiet and returning to normal.

Hongkong, May 31.—The Canton Times states that the Canton Government has despatched gunboats to Macao in order to protect the lives and property of the Chinese. A strong representation will be made to the Macao Government that unless complete and full satisfaction is given, the Canton Government will be prepared to take whatever action necessary.

In an editorial article on the Macao incident, the Canton Times says: "The firing was indiscriminate and totally unwarranted. Incidents of less magnitude than this have caused wars between neighboring Powers. We do not wish to alarm the public but it would be useless to disguise the seriousness of this incident or the grave consequences which may result. The Chinese people look to their Government for protection."

Hongkong, May 30.—Seventy-four persons were killed and several wounded in the outbreak at Macao yesterday.

No persons are allowed in the streets between seven o'clock at night and seven in the morning, except those with licences.

A British gunboat arrived at Macao this afternoon.

A shortage of foodstuffs is feared.

According to official despatches received by Consul General Casanova martial law has been declared in Macao and every precaution is being taken against further disorders.

According to this official wire, the casualties followed the disarmament of a Portuguese officer and resulted in the death of 34 Chinese, while 31 were wounded. No Portuguese casualties are reported.

Immediate response was made by the Portuguese company of the Shanghai Volunteers to the order to stand by and the entire company of 105 voted to offer their services. Consul General Casanova also volunteered to serve as a private with the company in case of its services being required.

According to a wire yesterday morning the situation in Macao is reported quiet. No word as to martial law being lifted or the curfew ordinance being repealed has come as yet.

Despite assurances that the outbreak was well in hand, the Portuguese gunboat Patria sailed Tuesday to be on the scene in case of any recrudescence of disorder.

Why Suffer from Rheumatism?

Do you know that nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles or chronic rheumatism, neither of which require any internal treatment? The pain may be relieved by applying Chamberlain's Liniment, which makes sleep and rest possible, and that certainly means a great deal to any one afflicted with rheumatism.

Crown Colonies To Pay, Commons Told

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 30.—Mr. E. F. L. Wood, Parliamentary Under-Secretary for the Colonies, replying to Mr. Wedgwood in the House of Commons today, said that he did not anticipate that any Crown Colony would default in the interest on its loans. It was undesirable to discuss what steps should be taken in so improbable a contingency. He was not prepared to urge the British Government to guarantee Crown Colony loans.

Mr. Winston Churchill in a supplementary reply said that they had been most unsuccessful in placing loans on the credit of the Colonies under the existing system. These went a long way towards creating labor in Britain. He deprecated any desire to injure the credit of the Colonies.

Mr. Wedgwood explained that he wanted to get money as cheaply as possible.

KNOLL GETS FIVE FIRSTS IN 11 RACES

Close Contests Feature Dragon Boat Festival Meeting Yesterday

TWO DEAD HEATS

Kings Cross With Vida Riding Wins And Pays Longest Price

Hard racing and close contests with no less than two dead heats characterised yesterday's card of events at the Kiangwan track. For the Dragon Boat Festival meeting the sun appeared after the long period of wet weather and a throng that taxed all the stands was out.

In general favorites ran closely to form and the great majority of dividends held to low levels through the program of eleven events. The one outstanding upset of the day, in fact, did not develop until the eleventh race in which Mr. Frank Vida piloted King's Cross in to a victory by a narrow margin over Hallowe'en, with Mr. Brand riding. This payment, the biggest of the day, amounted to $98.

The first of the dead heats was scored in the second race when The King, ridden by Mr. Burkill, and Gracefield, ridden by Mr. Morriss, tied for third place. The race was won by Aerometer, ridden by Mr. Dallas, and Crowborough, ridden by Mr. Springfield took second place.

The second dead heat was for first place between Lusterlo, ridden by Mr. Knoll, and Hakone, ridden by Mr. T. U. Yih in the seventh race, a mile event, in which third place went to Henry VIII, ridden by Mr. Sleap.

The unusual achievement of winning first place in five events of the card of eleven races was scored by Mr. Knoll, who also took a third place in a sixth event, having had mounts in ten of the eleven races. Mr. A. N. Dallas also scored notably among the riders taking three first places.

The Home of the Soul.

In olden times, it was believed that the seat of the soul was the stomach, most likely for the reason that a man is never so completely used up as when his stomach is out of order. For the cure of ordinary stomach troubles, there is nothing quite so prompt and satisfactory as Chamberlain's Tablets. They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

POLICE SPORTS PROVIDE GOOD ENTERTAINMENT

The annual sports and gymkhana of the Shanghai Municipal Police, for Sikhs and Chinese with its long and varied program, its full entry list, and its great growd of spectators was perhaps the most successful ever held. The contestants and those others who gave special exhibitons provided a fine afternoon of entertainment. No times were taken in running events, though it was evident that the Sikhs were leading in points with the Chinese sportsmen not far behind. Features were a jiu jitsu exhibition by Japanese police, exhibition riding by Sikh Police Constable No. 533, a new addition to the force, and a sharp exhibition drill by Chinese recruits.

The sports were under the direction of Inspector Fairburn, Judges were Major A. Hilton Johnson, Capt. R. M. J. Martin, A. L. Anderson, and, for mounted events, Capt. W. J. N. Dyer, Capt. E. I. M. Barrett and Mr. W. Beatty served as starters. The following committee assisted: Major K. M. Bourne, Inspectors Sinclair, Johnston, Sullivan, Buda Singh, Kerrigan; Sub-inspectors Beale, Yoshida, Jones and Liu; and Sergeants Hotchkiss and Stubbings.

A summary of the competitions follows:

NANKING NINE MAY PLAY AGAIN NEXT SATURDAY

Invitation Has Been Wired To Harry Kingman; Answer Due Today

OSAKA NINE WANTS A DATE

Team Which Played Here In Olympics May Come For 7 Games

The week end baseball games, from all present indications, will be played with Harry Kingman's nine from the Nanking Language School. The local management has telegraphed the northern team an invitation to come to Shanghai for Saturday at least, and it is more than likely that it will be accepted for the Nanking men when they were here last expressed a willingness to return at any time for further games. The hoped-for game with the cruiser Albany has been given up in view of information to the effect that the warship will not come to Shanghai in the near future.

The Osaka Mainichi baseball team, which includes members of the famous Diamonds, which played against the Philippine Islands and China at the Far East Olympic Games last May,

The league match yesterday afternoon played between the S.V.C. and the S.C.C. gave the club a win by 170 runs on a score of 263 declared against 90.

W. A. H. Moule played a very fine 100 not out; going in first he batted for 2 hours and a half. This is Mr. Moule's first match this year, and he is to be congratulated on his very good effort, having played cricket in Shanghai over 20 years ago. Gotch, Cockburn, and Hill all batted well for the club. Allison and Cockburn captured all the S.V.C. wickets between them, the latter's average being 7 wickets for 45 runs. Roberts and Harder

MISKE BEATS ROPER

New York, May 30.—Billy Miske gained the decision over Bob Roper tonight at the Madison Square Garden. The bout went the limit of 12 rounds.

Shanghai C. C. Beat Volunteers

were the only two of the S.V.C. team to reach double figures.

The club won the toss and decided to bat, which they did for nearly 3 hours, declaring at 263 for 6 wickets. Moule and Cockburn opened against the bowling of Day and Rawsthorne. The bowling was not good and from the first the club batsmen had things their own way. Cockburn in an attempt to jump out and hit a slow delivery of Roberts was stumped by Barnes. P. L. O. Hill followed on and the two remained together till 96 had been scored when Hill was bowled by Day for 37.

Morrell and Gotch carried on, both hitting well till the score stood at 208 for 4. Moule though giving 2 chances was playing a steadier game than his partner's and remained at the wickets till Allison came in and was very well caught by Day with his first ball. It was a pleasure to see that catch of Day's. He dived forwards at the exact moment it was hit and succeeded in just catching it after a run of 20 yards. Simpson followed on and was bowled by Clifford 6, and Leslie played a hard hitting game scoring 20 not out. Moule stood his ground well, hit his balls hard all round the wicket, and was not afraid to run. W. J. Haynes, G. D. Nicholl, C. R. W. Thompson, did not bat.

The S.V.C. team put up a rather disappointing display. Roberts who went in first with Pearson played the best innings of his side scoring 26, Harder who went in the 9th wicket very nearly drew the game scoring 29 not out, Barnes being caught by Hill just before time.

Nanking Nine May Play On Saturday

wants to come here for a series with the Shanghai team.

Manager Herby Gallop will hold a confab today with Mr. Motomoto, Shanghai correspondent of the Japanese nowspaper and Mr. Y. Ikeda, of the Eastern News Agency, who are trying to arrarge the series.

The Osaka Mainichi nine has defeated Meiji and Keio this season and nas lost but one game to date, an extra inning affair going to Waseda University by a score of 2-1 after a bitter fight. The Mainichi is touted as the best team in Japan.

Possibly Gallop may bring the Japanese here at the same time the 15th Infantry and Peking Marines are in Shanghai, although the original plan was to bring the service teams from the North at the same time that the army team from the Philippine Islands plays here.

A series with the Japanese alone would be better and in eight days a seven-game series could be staged.

Gallop announces games at the Race Course every Wednesday between old and new players. The Wednesday games will be definite fixtures.

DISTRESS AFTER MEALS

Some people, however careful in their diet, suffer after each meal because the stomach is weak and the food lies undigested.

Tone up the stomach and this trouble quickly disappears as is shown by the experience of Mrs. Nettie Ainsworth, of No. 81 Elm street, Montpelier, Vt. This American lady says:

"I became run down through overwork and suffered a complete nervous breakdown. My stomach distressed me after meals and I was in misery from flatulency and gas. I tossed about, sleepless, at night and was steadily losing strength and weight.

"A friend who had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills following an attack of pneumenia recommended the treatment to me and I decided to give the remedy a trial. I took seven bottles in all and was completely restored to health. My nervousness disappeared and I now sleep well and eat without distress. Water Works Purchase Considered By Council ontrivance as suggested by ane ouncil should such be obtainable nd in the meantime they suggest hat some solution of the difficulty ay be arrived at by the installaion, should any landlord so desire, f reducing pressure valves at his ost. Experiments have been made ith these and it seems that they ay in certain cases go some way o achieve the desired result.

4.—My directors note that the ouncil endorses the principle that he sum total of the meter rates hould be the expenses attached o providing the supply plus a fair rofit," and again that such provision should be made as will nable the company from time to me so to adjust its supply charges s to cover the cost of supply and rovide a fair profit. Furthermore ey are in agreement with the ouncil that periodical revision of e charges for supply based on e financial results of the period apsed since the last revision with ue consideration for conditions hen existing and so far as can be oreseen likely to exist during the ext ensuing period for which the evision will hold good; as also hat an allowance of reasonable dereciation be included in the cost f supply but they are of opinion hat the company's officials are the est judges of the provision to be ade therefor having regard to bsolescence, wear and tear, local onditions, etc.

DIVIDEND LIMITING

In suggesting limitation of dividends on the company's share capal to 12 percent per annum the ouncil, in my directors' opinion, as overlooked the fact that the ompany's share capital is in erling and to take a dividend of 2 percent as the standard upon hich water rates are to be based ould result in the variation of ch standard, and consequently he water rates based on such tandard, with exchange, for it is bvious that when exchange is low will require a larger sum in ilver to pay a dividend of 12 perent than when exchange is high; urthermore the suggestion does ot take into account the fact that considerable portion of the company's profit is derived from the ttings department, the supply to hipping, and to certain extragreement consumers, all of which o not come within the purview of e Council's negotiations with the ompany. The suggestion would ean that shareholders, including e Council as one of the principal hareholders, would be precluded om any benefit accruing to them om the fact that the company has vested in its undertaking eserves, consisting in a large easure of premia on shares, and ndivided profits—legitimately urned under its existing agreent—or that have accrued to em or may accrue to them from e accretion in value of the comny's lands or other assets unless e directors take immediate steps capitalise the whole of the existg reserves both actual and dden, a step which otherwise they ight consider undesirable; nor es it take into account the fact at a considerable portion of the mpany's capital has been raised the issue of debentures and that e shareholders are entitled to me recompense for the mortgage their assets thereby created. e proposals for allocation of rplus profits they consider to be undue interference with their wers as directors of a public mpany.

12 PERCENT HELD FAIR

The only equitable basis upon hich a standard for the purpose determining water rates can be sed is a return upon the amount capital expended for the purse of providing the water supply lled for by the company's agreent with the Council, having rd also to the estimated amount capital to be expended during e next ensuing period of five ars, and they are prepared to cept a return of 12 percent per num as a fair return upon such capital so expended or about to be expended.

5.—My directors agree to the Council's proposal that the first revision of the meter tariff be undertaken at the end of five years with further revision at the end of each succeeding period of five years, but, in view of the fact that the adoption of the general supply by meter is in the nature of an experiment and that the rates fixed may conceivably not give the hoped for result, it is considered that the Council should give the company a definite concession for a period of 25 years from the date of the coming into force of the modifications of the agreement of 1905.

6.—My directors note that provided agreement is reached on all other matters outstanding, the Council would recommend cancellation of the provision contained in the agreement of 1905 that consumers in residences and other buildings set out in the schedule to such agreement should be charged the rate specified in such schedule.

EXTENSION DISAGREEMENT

7.—My directors regret that the Council is still of opinion that it should be the sole arbiter as to whether any particular extension of a main or the provision of a new main should be at the cost or part cost of the consumer requiring the same or at the cost or part cost of the company, the effect of this would be to remove the capital expenditure thereby involved from my directors' control and to place the policy of the company in regard to such extensions entirely in the hands of the Council; while they may be satisfied as to the reasonable intentions of the present Council they have no guarantee as to the actions of future Councils, and they therefore consider more especially in the interests of the general body of consumers—and this term is not synonymous with ratepayers, that the proposal previously made that in the event of dispute between the company and a consumer as to any contribution by the latter towards the interest on the cost of the extension of a main or provision of a new main, the matter should be referred to a commission consisting of two members of the Council and two directors of the company with provision for arbitration in case of disagreement, is one that is eminently fair and should be adopted.

It may be pointed out that in view of the Council's requirements as to the minimum pressure over the whole system of mains, an extension may conceivably entail the enlargement of one or more existing mains.

WOULD PROVIDE PRESSURE

8.—My directors are prepared to take the necessary steps to provide a minimum pressure of 45-lb. per square inch over the whole system of mains although as pointed out in my letter of June 8, 1921 the proposal will involve very heavy expenditure and consequently a higher tariff of water rates. This might, however, be rendered less onerous if the Council will agree to modification in the case of certain undeveloped districts. It is, however, considered that the question of the size of mains is embraced in that of the minimum pressure, as in order to provide such pressure it is necessary that the requisite mains be of a certain size and the determination of this, it is considered, should be left to the discretion of the company's engineers. In regard to this and other technical matters involved in the points under discussion, however, my directors would again urge the desirability of a conference between the officials of the Council and the engineers of the company in order that the Council's requirements may be complied with in the manner best suited to both parties.

9.—At the same conference it is suggested that further consideration be given to the question of concentration of water at fires; my directors recognise the importance of an adequate supply of water for fire extinction but they are faced with the difficulty that the suggested means of concentration would in very few cases be effective (owing to the fact that the direction of flow is not uniform), and even in those cases would be likely to deprive a large section of the community of water. My directors are prepared to adopt any practical proposal that may result from such conference.

THE HYDRANT QUESTION

10.—My directors are prepared to agree that the question of street hydrants be disposed of on the following basis which is substantially that proposed by the Council:

(a) All existing hydrants shall become the property of the Council without payment; this must, however, necessarily be subject to the assent of the Trustees for the Debenture Holders.

(b) All new hydrants and additional hydrants for existing mains shall be provided by the Council at its cost, the company bearing the cost of and carrying out the work of connecting and installing them without limit as to number, but it may be pointed out that while the hydrant itself costs about 27 percent the cost of connecting and installing it is about 73 percent of the total cost of erection. It is considered that the Council should before the commencement of any five year period furnish the company with an estimate of its probable requirements in this respect during such period.

(c) The Council shall be responsible for and bear the cost of the repair and maintenance of all hydrants.

(d) The company shall instal all T connexions, etc., as may be required by the Council and bear the cost of doing so.

(e) The company shall provide free of cost the supply of water drawn off from street hydrants for public purposes provided that such free supply in any one year (determined on the existing basis) shall not exceed one percent of the total quantity of water supplied under the provisions of such modified agreement as may result from these negotiations, this figure being in excess of the average quantity drawn off during the last three years and providing for a supply based on 1921 figures of 82,000,000 gallons as against 33,500,000 actually drawn off.

FIRE HYDRANT SEALS

11.—My directors agree to the Council's proposal that the supply of water drawn off from private fire hydrants for fire extinction purposes shall be provided free and that the company shall be entitled to seal them on their passing the initial test following installation and to charge a reasonable fee therefor; that seals broken subsequently by the Fire Brigade for testing purposes shall be replaced by Brigade seals; and that when seals are broken and water used for other than fire extinction purposes the Council shall support the company in securing adequate compensation from the consumer concerned. It is considered that a fair charge for sealing and resealing hydrants will be Tls. 1 per hydrant. The Council's further proposal that this arrangement should apply mutatis mutandis to sprinkler installations is also agreed to.

As has already been pointed out, however, these proposals cannot apply unless the hydrants and-or sprinklers are supplied by a separate and distinct connection at the company's main.

12.—With regard to the opinion expressed by the Council that the inspection and testing of all water supply and heating installations whether the work of the company or of other plumbing concerns should properly be carried out by the Council, and the suggestion that submission to the Council for its approval of any new or amended rules and regulations should be specifically provided for in such amended agreement as may result from the present negotiations, my directors consider that acquiescence would result in undue usurpation of the powers properly pertaining to the water authority, as if fittings are of an inferior nature—and this applies equally under a meter system—the loss from leakage falls on the company; and in regard to the innuendo that the company's inspection is not impartial, my directors can point to the success attending other fittings concerns; it may be stated that inspection is carried out by a department of the company quite inpendent of the fittings department. My directors are prepared to notify the Council of any new or amended regulations but they would draw attention to the fact that some three and half years have elapsed since the regulations just published were sent to the Council in order that it might, should it so desire, offer its comment thereon.

With regard to the amendments suggested by the Council, on the adoption of the general meter rate certain modifications of the existing rules will be possible and in drawing up such revised rules due regard will be given to the suggestions made by the Council.

OPPOSE REPRESENTATION

13.—My directors regret that they are unable to agree to the Council's suggestions (a) that it should be represented on the board of the company by two nominees not necessarily members of the Council, (b) that the company should furnish the Council from time to time with detailed statements of its half-yearly accounts differentiating therein between water supply, plumbing and any other branches of its activities and (c) that particulars of any program of extentions and development with a statement of the estimated cost should be submitted to the Council so far as is possible before the commencement of each financial year, together with a covering report by the directors as to how it is proposed to raise the required capital. If these proposals are made with the object of securing closer liaison between the Council and the company, they are of opinion that such object would not thereby be secured, if with the object of obtaining control over the company they consider that the suggestions entail a curtailment of their powers as directors of a public company that is uncalled for. Moreover they would remind the Council that the board of directors of a company is appointed by the shareholders to administer its affairs in the interests of the shareholders as a whole.

It will be realised that some time must elapse before the necessary meters can be installed (this is estimated at two years) while on the coming into force of the modified agreement contemplated by these proposals the company will be faced with the loss of revenue from private fire hydrants and sprinklers and the supply for public purposes from street hydrants and with the cost of installing meters and providing the increased pressure against which there will only be a slight saving of the cost of maintenance of street hydrants; it is suggested therefore that any reduction of the existing meter rate for other than domestic purposes that may be decided upon under the new meter tariff and also the provision of a free supply of water drawn from street hydrants for public purposes be not effective until after the expiration of two years from the date of the coming into force of the modified agreement.

WANTED DISCUSSIONS

In conclusion I am to express my directors' regret that no reference is made to the resumption of the discussions which were suspended in 1918, which they were led to anticipate from the Council's letter of April 8, 1920 and which they again proposed in their letter of June 8, 1921. Had they had the opportunity of friendly discussion with the Council they would have convinced it of their desire for the increased efficiency of the water supply and they consider that many of the proposals made in your letter under reply would have been omitted.

It will be seen that apart from the measure of control the company's proposals do not differ fundamentally from those of the Council, above all they afford the Council the increased efficiency of the supply which it calls for and the company the wherewithal to attract fresh capital without which such increased efficiency cannot be provided; in the hope therefore that agreement may ensue from such proposals, my directors intend to draw up the suggested amendments to the agreement of 1905 which they will submit to the Council at an early date. I am, Sir, Your obedient servant,

F. B. PITCAIRN,
Engineer-in-Chief and Manager.

COUNCIL REPLIES

The reply by the Council is as follows:

Council Room,
Shanghai, May 27, 1922.

Sir.—I am directed to inform you that your letter of February 27, further on the subject of the various matters outstanding between the Council and your company, in connection with the water supply, was duly circulated to the Council and that in accordance with members' directions the matter was set down for detailed consideration at the Council meeting on May 17, with departmental reports and my comments.

Noting that there were still points of very considerable importance outstanding upon which no actual agreement had yet been reached, and upon which in fact there was no particular prospect of agreement held out, members concluded that it would be desirable, rather than continue the negotiations, to give consideration to the question of the desirability of the purchase by the Council of your company's water supply undertaking in accordance with the provision made to such end in the Wateworks Agreement of 1905. I pointed out that this question was referred to the special Waterworks Committee appointed in 1918, but that owing to the then financial conditions, this committee recommended that consideration of the matter should be deferred until such time as the purchase, if recommended would be possible. Members thereupon decided to refer the matter back to this Special Committee, in accordance with the terms of Resolution VII. passed at the annual meeting of ratepayers in March, 1918.

In notifying you of this decision, I am directed to state that the reference to this committee will be made at an early date, and that so soon as possible after the committee's report has been received and considered by the Council it will be laid before the ratepayers for their instructions. I am Sir, Your obedient servant,

N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary and Commissioner General.

Louvain Chimes To Ring For Allies

Bells Of New Library Also To Play 'The Star-Spangled Banner'

New York, April 20.—Chimes rivaling those of the historic structures of the Old World will each hour alternately ring out "The Star-Spangled Banner" and the national hymns of the Allies from the belfry of the new $1,000,000 library of the University of Louvain, Baron de Cartier, Belgian Ambassador, said yesterday in a message to the American people. In the message he describes Cardinal Mercier's hopes, gradually approaching fruition, for an edifice which shall stand through the centuries as "a monument of protest against barbarism and as an arsenal of civilised faith and aspiration."

Crowning the library, funds for the erection of which are being raised by the 640 colleges and universities of the United States in a national movement headed by Columbia University, will be a high balustrade bearing the coats-of arms of the United States and Belgium. "Though its body was destroyed, Louvain's soul was beyond the power of the Germans," said the Belgian Ambassador, quoting President Harding's reference to the library as a noble undertaking.

Steel for the new building will be shipped from America, it was announced yesterday at Columbia. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Columbia's President, has authorised the beginning of construction, although the fund is still far from complete. Dr. Butler is Chairman of the National Committee of the United States for the Restoration of the University of Louvain.

A message from Mgr. Ladeuze, rector of Louvain, made public yesterday, said that the Library would be provided with the latest improvements embodying all that is best in the American institutions presented by Andrew Carnegie. Mgr. Ladeuze, in his letter, addressed to Whitney Warren, architect of the new building, described the elation of the scholars of Belgium following the receipt of authority from Dr. Butler to begin work.

Dr. Butler joins with Baron de Cartier in picturing the task of raising funds for the building which lies before America. He also said that books were pouring into Louvain from America, England, Japan, and other countries. "The whole world aroused," added Dr. Butler, "and as a result, when the Library building is completed, a collection of books that will be almost unique in the history of libraries will be ready to occupy it." Thousands of volumes have been forwarded as a gift from the school children of France, who also have raised over 280,000 francs.

Baron de Cartier said that "from the ashes of its martyrdom Louvain rose immortal," and that the library soon to be erected would be a new link between America and Belgium.

"On the occasion of the laying of the cornerstone of the new Library of the University of Louvain last July," the Ambassador continued, "President Harding sent a most gracious message, in which he said: 'It makes me particularly happy that my own countrymen have had the privilege of sharing in this noble undertaking, and it is my hope that the friendship between the University of Louvain and the universities of America will prove one of the strong ties which hold the two nations together.'

"Belgium is bound to America by many ties of gratitude and affection. For instance, we Belgians will never forget what the Commission of Relief in Belgium and its Chairman, Herbert Hoover, did for us during our days of trial; and we will always also remember with gratitude the excellent work now being done by the Educational Foundation of the Commission for Relief in Belgium, which enables young Belgians to come to American universities and young Americans likewise go to Belgian universities. This shows how strong is the sentiment of friendship and solidarity which exist between university life in both countries, and it is a particularly touching thought that a movement is now being started among the students of American universities to contribute funds necessary to complete the new library building of the University of Louvain.

"Each student who contributes, no matter how small the sum, will feel that he has a share in the future education of the Belgian race, and every Belgian student at Louvain will feel a new inspiration in knowing that the restoration of his library—his indispensable 'workshop'—has been made possible through the efforts of his fellow-students across the sea."

Unionism

Note: Unionism among workingmen, while accepted as an established principle, has, according to The New York Times and the National Association of Manufacturers of America, yet to prove its merit and value to the workingman. And inasmuch as the proletariat of China has in recent days been experimenting with unionism, the following resume on the economics of the matter should be enlightening:

A REMARKABLE set of statistics as to building, wages and rents is presented by Mr. Noel Sargent, manager of the open shop department of the National Association of Manufacturers. Having examined conditions in thirty representative American cities, Mr. Sargent finds that in those where the closed shop prevails rent increases during 1921 averaged 47 percent, as against less than 5 percent in the open shop cities. Nor was the rentpayer's gain the workman's loss. In the open shop towns there was 56 percent more construction, with the result that, though wages averaged only $0.87 as against $1.01, the building worker received 34 percent more in total wages. The effect on unemployment was equally striking. In the open shop towns only 34 out of 1,000 inhabitants were out of work, as against 77 in the closed shop towns.

These figures cannot be brushed aside as open shop propaganda. The Monthly Labor Review, published by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, in which the influence of organised labor is strong, made a survey of nine closed shop cities and six open shop cities which shows that the rent increase in the closed shop cities was ten times as great, 47 percent as against 4.7 percent—almost precisely the figures reported by Mr. Sargent.

A similar situation has been disclosed in many industries, notably the coal mines. The present strike is mainly the result of the fact that the union miners are clinging to their wartime wage scales, though their actual pay, as a result of a lack of orders, barely enables them to make ends meet, whereas non-union miners, working normal hours at economically possible wages, are making a good living. Though the union wage scale is a tragic illusion to the workman, it is a reality no less tragic to the public, which pays it dollar for dollar in every expenditure in which building labor, manufacture and transportation are items. The fight to retain inflated wage scales is a leading factor not only in unemployment, but in the tardy return of normal business.

It does not follow that unionism is to be smashed and the open shop established. What Mr. Sargent and the Bureau of Labor have proved is that union leadership as it exists today is grossly incompetent in protecting the true interests of the workman and flagrantly antagonistic to the welfare of the nation as a whole. Past gains have been made by fighting and could not have been otherwise achieved; but to cope with present conditions new tactics are requisite.

It is an interesting sign of the times that, where employe representation prevails, the "company union"—as in the packing industry and the Pennsylvania Railroad—workmen have accepted wage reductions cheerfully, to their own advantage and the advantage of the public, though to do so they have been obliged to repudiate their old leaders. Sooner or later the American Federation of Labor will have to recognise economic realities or forfeit its leadership.

As An American Girl Sees Mahatma Gandhi

Miss Gertrude Emerson Gives Vivid Pen Picture Of Indian Disturber

A vivid picture of Gandhi, the Indian leader, drawn by an American girl, who saw and studied him at close range, is presented in a recent issue of Asia. The author is Miss Gertrude Emerson, associate editor of Asia.

"The sun was up sufficiently high to make us thoroughly uncomfortable before Gandhi finally arrived, in a carriage drawn by two horses covered with necklaces and chains of flowers," miss Emerson writes. "As the grass in a field is sometimes bent all one way by the wind, so the people swayed forward. A few more or less self-appointed directors jumped up, waving their arms frantically, shouting to the masses to keep their seats. The air was shattered by the famous cry of 'Mahatma Gandhi ki-jai!'—'Victory to Gandhi, Great of Soul!' Then those of us in the purdah section saw how on the opposite side a passage was being cleaved through the crowd and some one was slowly making his way toward the platform amid showers of far-flung petals and strung marigolds.

"There emerged a small, almost emaciated figure, with bare head and feet, wrapped in a nondescript shawl such as Lincoln used to wear. He sat down cross-legged, indifferent to the shouting, acknowledging by neither word nor gesture the acclamation with which he was being received. It struck me that this was not a man to be tempted cheaply. He probably weighed mob enthusiasm for what it was worth—compounded of mere love of shouting, of violent waving of arms, of curiosity, of tribute-paying instincts expressing themselves primarily in homage to the man rather than his ideas. For himself, he was oddly scornful of all this, or perhaps only rather tired.

NOT IMPRACTICAL IDEALIST

"Nevertheless Mr. Gandhi is not, as he is so often described, an impractical idealist. He knows only too well the strength of mass support to his cause. He knows that, particularly here in India, the ignorant masses can be made to reflect in multiple images the well-thought-out ideas of the leaders. For the sake of the goal he has set himself, realising his singular power to weld the masses to at least a semblance of unity of feeling, he suffers himself to be adored. I am not one of those who believe that he really likes it. As he sat there in the attitude of an ascetic deep in contemplation, he remained curiously aloof from the crowd; nor did he ever descend to it. The craning of necks ceased a little as the people fulfilled their ambition to see their hero in his humble glory. Somebody passed up to him a small spinning-wheel. A child near me began to wail, refusing to be comforted by the sticky sweets his mother coaxed him to accept. He continued his dismal howling. While this little incident distracted my attention for a moment Gandhi had risen and was preparing to address the corwd.

"Unfortunately the time had come for me to leave, if I was to get my luggage from the Cantonment Station waiting room and catch the 9 o'clock train for Lahore. I had had my first long-range view of Mr. Gandhi, but later in the day I was to see him at closer quarters under extraordinary conditions. We continued the journey to Lahore by the same train, Gandhi making his connections at the City Station, where he had got off. In answer to a note delivered to him by Abdul, one of his three sons presently came back to my compartment to say that if I would come to the house of Mr. Lajpat Rai at 6 o'clock that evening he would be glad to see me. Meanwhile we made a triumphant progress that surely the Prince of Wales might envy. Vast crowds had assembled at every station. A cordon of volunteers had to protect the door of Mr. Gandhi's compartment from being broken down. If, as might have been expected, the shouting proceeded from the students and the element that Gandhi himself brands as hooligan, many country people were there in a spirit of profound reverence. They clasped the palms of their hands together with fingers pointing upward in the Indian gesture that is both worship and greeting, and if they could not be sure that they were greeting Mahatma Gandhi himself, they were content just to pay their respects to the train that was carrying him.

MEETING WITH GANDHI

"In my concern to arrive in good time for my appointment, I found myself drawing up in front of the house of M. Rai half an hour too early. It seemed best to wait where I was, and I had just instructed the chauffeur accordingly when a car came swinging out of the gate with Gandhi and half a dozen people crowded into the seats and on the running board. When he saw me he stopped his car and explained that he was then on his way to a big mass meeting in the Badshahi Mosque. 'If you would care to come,' he said, 'we could return to his house afterward. Then I will answer any questions you wish to ask me.'

"He made room for me to sit beside him, and off we drove to the mosque through streets lined with the cheering populace of Lahore, including many school children in Gandhi caps, singing a national song. Fifteen thousand people must have been packed into the mosque. There was not anywhere a square foot of unoccupied floor space, and those who could not get inside had scrambled all over the outside of the building, so that every cornice and projection, and even the roofs were swarming with mostly Gandhi throngs. We entered by a side door, and almost before I realised what was happening I found myself obeying Mr. Gandhi's request to precede him along the narrow temporary bridge erected from the back of the mosque to a small square platform in the center. As we hurried along this structure, I was pelted with a generous share of the flowers intended for Gandhi, and my feet narrowly escaped the eager hands reaching up on every side to touch in superstitious reverence the bare feet behind me.

"An imam opened the meeting, followed by one of Gandhi's coworkers, who made a full report on the results of the 'national schools' founded in opposition to State schools a year ago. At the close of his address several graduates of the 'National University' of Lahore received their diplomas from Mr. Gandhi's own hand.

"As he rose for the first time, dropping off his blanket shawl and appearing clad only in a very short dhoti, in accordance with a recent resolve he had made to share the utmost poverty of his people, I saw, to my surprise, an expression of sophisticated amusement run across the faces of those nearest the platform. But if for one moment a few people laughed, the laughter ceased abruptly. Mr. Gandhi began to speak in a voice that at first sounded a note of great physical exhaustion, but after a few moments shook off this weariness and rang out with arresting urgency. He is not an orator.

"His thin right hand, with fingers bent flexibly backward at the tips, made the same automatic gesture again and again. He did not plead with his audience. He made no attempt to flatter it. Rather did he seem to be speaking in anger and bitterness of heart. He was asking the people how they expected to have swaraj when they would not work for it; when they would not adopt the vow of swadeshi and thus make India self-sustaining, as she was very old; when, through incapacity to deny themselves comforts or to suffer, they showed themselves unprepared for true self-rule. Some of the familiar catchwords I caught. A stout Moslem gentleman who sat near me on the floor of the platform occasionally acted as interpreter.

THE LEADER'S SMILE

"But the text of Gandhi's face was what chiefly interested me. I am almost tempted to call him ugly. To begin with, his head is small, even for his short stature, though possibly the proportionately broad Indian shoulders make it seem more so. Close-cropped iron-gray hair with the long wisp generally worn by Hindus—I never saw Gandhi himself wearing the cap his followers have adopted—a forehead with very deep horizontal lines, a long nose shadowing a distinctly Oriental mouth with a clipped mustache, thin cheeks, dark eyes rather far apart with indefinite eyebrows and heavy eyelids—such is his general appearance as well as I can describe it. Perhaps it is the effect of sharp features too much crowded into the lower half of the face that is its most distinctive characteristic. Perhaps it is the troubled forehead and the deep-set lines running from nose to chin. The lines are those of suffering and old age, now out very far away, although in years Mr. Gandhi is only just 52. When he smiles one notes with a shock how the lines in his face deepen and how the absence of two or three teeth in the lower jaw accentuates the impression of advancing age.

"There was something inappropriate about that smile. Gandhi once remarked to me, that it was his sense of humor which kept him along sometimes. But I have heard many people lay claim to a sense of humor when I could never discover a trace of one. So it was with Gandhi. His smile was not of the troubled soul. It broke around the mouth and passed quickly, like a veil thrown for a fraction of a second across the settled melancholy of the face. Many Indian faces wear that same melancholy. Sometimes it is sunk in apathy, often it expresses itself in conscious discontent, but whatever its varying shades, it has seemed to me fundamental to Indian thought. It is a flag of the mind. You never see it reflected on a Malayan face, for instance. As for the eyes of this man, they suggest a stern and critical appraisal of everything coming within range of their vision, and a curious detachment. It is so that one looks out on a glittering tropical sea or toward the desert horizon.

"The windows in the mosque darkened, and the lights hanging from the ceiling gleamed with hostile brilliancy. Many men in the audience were now weeping. The slight, half-naked figure of Gandhi, saying again for the thousandth or ten-thousandth time all that he had to say about the charka and swadeshi and swaraj seemed to shrink even smaller. Was it that something of himself was actually spent, something material and physical, as his indomitable will battled against the mass mind, striving to lift it to the plane of his own strange vision?

OPINIONS OF HIM

"I am aware of having drawn a picture that commits me to a certain sympathy with Gandhi's personality. This sympathy has nothing to do with my critical estimate of his balance or his political judgments. For the present I shall not discuss any of the involved questions that have made Gandhi a dangerous person in the eyes of the English world. It is worth stating, however, that, although I talked about him with a great many English people in all parts of India, I never heard any except two general expressions of opinion concerning him. To the larger number, he is nothing more nor less than an arch hypocrite, a man who talks non-violence and indirectly incites to violence, who professes to love mankind and all the time stirs up the bitterest feelings of race hatred. To the rest he is an incomprehensible religious fanatic whose psychology and point of view are so apart from the usual understanding that it is impossible to meet him on any sort of common ground; in short, a fool. Both sections of opinion agree that he has let loose forces beyond his control, and that it would have been better if he had been shot a long time ago. Very few of those with whom I talked had either seen or heard him. They said they did not want to do either. For years he has been publishing a weekly paper in English called Young India, containing signed articles by himself on nearly every development of the political, social and economic situation in India. Almost no one in the English community is sufficiently interested to follow that expression of his opinion. I except the censors, naturally.

"Over against this almost universal Anglo-Indian attitude there are a great many different Indian attitudes. But I can remember only three Indians who accused him of out-and-out insincerity. Sir Surendranath Banerjee, who has rendered distinguished services to the Liberal Party in India and is now occupying an important post in the Government of Bengal, made no effort to disguise his feeling that of late Gandhi had turned into a mere politician. A Gurkha cook who looked after a little tea house in the Himalayas where I sometimes dropped off my horse to have a cup of tea and get warm after a ride from Darjeeling, insisted that Gandhi's real object in life was merely to become maharaja of all India. And the superintendent of the model prison at Jaipur expressed his convictions with equal certainty. 'He is a malicious disturber of the peace,' said that gentleman. 'If he ever dares to come into our state, I will see that very good care is taken of him, very good care indeed!' Rabindranath Tagore and the great scientist, Sir J. C. Bost, neither of whom agrees with Gandhi's narrow nationalistic bias or his economic conceptions, definitely stated to me that his integrity could not be questioned.

"One day the Director of the Royal Library in Calcutta told me a story indicative of the extent and the character of Gandhi's influence. In the interest of the library, the director had sent a Tibetan from India to visit various monasteries in an attempt to persuade some of the lamas to sell their holy books. This man kept a diary, and in it he recorded that he was very often asked whether it was true that the Second Buddha had been reincarnated in India and was known as Mahatma Gandhi. The Tibetans said they had head that he was now waging war with the English King, but that, when his enemies tried to shoot him, their arrows passed harmlessly through his body. When they tried to crush him by running iron trains over him, he merely stood up twice as strong as before. The other answered that, though he had not heard of anything like this and did not believe it was true, certainly there were many marvels in this distant country of India. For instance, he himself had seen automobiles that flew in the air. 'Now,' said the Tibetans, 'we know that you are lying to us. Now we do not believe anything you say.' Thus had the Gandhi legend spread in roadless, trackless Tibet."

is a popular way of describing anything which has proved to be of exceptional value, and may therefore be employed to describe that old and favourite preparation—Beecham's Pills. The ever-increasing army of men and women who have experience of this excellent medicine generally use some such phrase as "priceless" or "Worth a guinea a box" when speaking of Beecham's Pills. This is certainly high praise. But it is well-merited. Beecham's Pills have proved, times out of number, to be a "priceless" preparation in the treatment of digestive ailments. They bring relief; they safeguard the health; they effect remarkable cures. All who suffer in any way from biliousness, sick headache, constipation, impaired appetite, and the resulting loss of energy and want of tone should take

Shanghai Hotels Co. Meeting

An extraordinary general meeting of the Shanghai Hotels Company was held yesterday at noon. In his address to shareholders, asking the passage of a resolution to allow an increase in the borrowing powers of the Company to the extent of Taels 500,000, the chairman said:

"Gentlemen: This extraordinary general meeting has been called for the purpose of considering, and if thought fit, passing the resolution as set forth in the notice convening same, which has been appearing in the local press during the last eight days, the effect of such resolution if sactioned by the shareholders being to authorize your Board to increase the borrowing powers of the Company to the extent of Tls. 500,000.

"In this relation the necessity has arisen as the outcome of the recent acquisition by the Hongkong Hotel Company of the controlling interest in this Company and its associated enterprises, as the result of which your board deem it expedient to take immediate steps with a view to adjusting and regulating various matters of finance requiring urgent attention.

"You will doubtless recollect that at the annual general meeting, held recently, reference was made to various investments made by this Company: in which connection I refer more particularly to certain financial assistance rendered by The Shanghai Hotels to both the China Motors and China Press matters which have caused your Board no little anxiety for sometime past bearing in mind that it has been somewhat difficult to determine the degree of additional financial support necessary with a view to safeguarding the interests of this Company as a holder of the major portion of the shares of the aforementioned concerns.

REORGANISE CHINA MOTORS

"In connection with The China Motors, Limited, after mature consideration of the position, and bearing in mind that we have already assumed financial responsibility for the concern, your Board have decided upon a complete reconstruction of the Company, and steps are being taken to convene a meeting shortly when the other shareholders will be given the opportunity of contributing proportionately in the matter of the loans and guarantees already entered into by ourselves. Failing an acceptance of this proposal, the Company will be put into liquidation, and with that end in view reorganisation of the business has already been taken in hand. Your Board in the capacity of General Managers of the Company have decided upon a centralisation of control, as a result of which the registered office of the China Motors, Limited, will be transferred to The Shanghai Hotels Office, thus enabling us to exercise adequate supervision over the income and expenditure of the Company. Arrangements have also been made to transfer the accounts of both the China Motors and China Press, Limited, to our own bankers.

"With the advent of an organisation of the financial stability of the Hongkong Hotel Company, Limited, it has been made possible for us to obtain a greater measure of financial support by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation than heretofore, and you will doubtless be gratified to learn that they have offered to meet our requirements to the extent of the amount as set forth in the resolution before this meeting. Although at the moment additional credit of $200,000 will prove ample to cover our requirements, however, to avoid the necessity of a further extraordinary meeting, or a possible change in our Articles of Association, we deem it adviseable to make full provision for any further contingency that may arise by seeking authorization to extend our borrowing powers by Tls. 500,000.

THE NEW HOTEL HERE

"Before putting the resolution to the meeting, I welcome with great pleasure this opportunity of congratulating shareholders upon the amalgamation of their interests with those of the Hongkong Hotel Company. I do not propose to lay before you anything but a brief resume of the conjoint program to be adopted by these two Hotel Companies. I am confident, however, that you will appreciate the fact that the main hotel interests in the Far East will henceforth be subordinate to one administration. It is intended, so soon as practicable, to merge the Companies, and shareholders will be notified in due course of the details of the scheme of amalgamation. At such time, it is proposed to have the head office of the new Company established in and directed from Hongkong.

"The chain of hotels to be thus controlled will consist in South China of the Hongkong, the Peak and Repulse Bay Hotels and the new "Peninsula" Hotel in Kowloon. In the North, we shall have, of course, the Astor House, Palace and Kalee Hotels, and the new "Majestic" Hotel opposite the Race-Course, besides the Wagons-Lits in Pek'ng.

"Allied with these hotels there will be the Hongkong Steam Laundry, the Hongkong Hotel Garages and Messrs. William Powell's Department Store, the Star, Eastern, and Peking Garages, and The China Press.

"We are thus bound together in a great British Far Eastern enterprise, and my colleagues and myself place the highest value on the personnel of the controlling directorate in Hongkong, which, you will be interested to know, consists of: The Hon. Mr. C. Montague Ede, Member, Executive Council; Sir Catchick Paul Chater, Kt. C. M. G., Senior Member, Executive Council; the Hon. Mr. Arthur Ryland Lowe, Legislative Council; Mr. W. E. L. Shenton, Mr. E. M. Raymond, and Mr. J. H. Taggart.

"I now beg to formally propose the following Resolution.

That the Directors are hereby authorised to increase the borrowing powers of the Company by Tls. 500,000.

"If someone will kindly second the proposal, I shall be pleased to answer any questions or give any further explanations to the best of my ability."

There being no questions, it has been formally proposed by myself and seconded: "That the Directors borrowing powers be increased by Tls. 500,000."

The resolution was passed:

That will conclude the business of the meeting, Gentlemen, and I thank you for your attendance.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
Don't Poison Baby.
FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children unless you or your physician know of what it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.
The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria
Physicians Recommend Castoria.
"I have frequently prescribed Castoria for common ailments of children with good results." W. A. CRANDALL, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.
"I find your Castoria is very beneficial in the treatment of children's ailments." F. DAVIS, M. D., Chicago, Ill.
"As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and, aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home." WM. J. MCCRANN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.
"I object to what are called patent medicines, where the maker alone knows what stuff is put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use in proper cases. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine." N. B. EMERY, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Gobs Of Gloom In German Reichstag

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, May 31.—The Reichstag presented a curiously mournful spectacle yesterday on the occasion of the adoption of the German-Polish Agreement regarding Upper Silesia framed by the League of Nations at Geneva.

The German flags flew at half mast on the building while the Silesian colors draped with black streamers were hung in the Chamber. The Chancellor and the majority of the Ministers were attired in deep mourning. At the conclusion of the debate the President of the Chamber sorrowfully said farewell to the Germans living in the ceded portion, with all Deputies standing.

Opera Diva To Divorce Chauffeur Husband, "Perfect Man"

Mme Margarete Matzenauer

MLLE. Margarete Matzenauer, famed opera diva, will file divorce proceedings against Floyd Glotzbach, her chauffeur husband, who, when she married him, she claimed to be "the 100 percent man." Glotzbach has returned to San Francisco, where he and his wife formerly resided.

Archbishops Ask For Church Unity

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 30.—A statement by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York with regard to the appeal for church unity issued at the Lambeth Conference in 1920 says that the committee of Anglicans and Nonconformists appointed in November 1921 held prolonged meetings in 1922 and unanimously agreed to the propositions which were approved at Lambeth on May 24, 1920.

These declare that the existence of rival denominations is not in accordance with the purpose of Christ, and that both the Episcopate and the Council of Presbyters should be maintained as permanent elements of a united church.

Assent to creeds should not be understood to imply acceptance of them as a complete expression of faith or as excluding reasonable liberty of interpretation but as affirming the essential elements of the Christian faith and preserving the faith in the form handed down in history.

The statement expresses the hope that a large measure of agreement will be reached and that it will prove a basis for a further agreement leading to practical action.

Freighter Sinks On Eve Of Trip East

(China Press Service)

San Francisco, May 30.—The steamer Welsh Prince, loaded with lumber for the Orient, sunk after a collision with the steamer Iowan, off Alcona, Washington at the mouth of the Columbia River. Seven members of the crew of the Welsh Prince were killed when the bow of the Iowan crashed into the side of the ship.

Wireless calls to Portland, Ore., brought tug boats to the rescue, but the Iowan had saved the passengers and the Welsh Prince had sunk before they arrived.

The Iowan was en route for Cavite with a general cargo from New York when the rapid current at a sharp turn in the channel is believed to have sunk her bow into the incoming ship.

Doyle Says U. S. Will Be Converted To Spiritualism

(China Press Service)

New York, May 30.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who has been lecturing here in America on spiritualism declared that he came to the United States as a prophet-evangelist. He prophesied that a great religious landslide will sweep the United States and Australia within the decade from which spiritualism will emerge as the prevailing religion.

Declares Uprisings Have Sobered India

Returned Missionary Says That Government's Patience Has Stood Test

New York, April 20.—The recent upheavals in India which grew out of the non-co-operation movement under Gandhi have had a sobering effect upon those parts of the country where these outbreaks have occurred, according to the Rev. Noble Lee Rockey, of Sitapur, North India, just returned. Mr. Rockey has lived in India for the past thirty-seven years as a missionary under the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Discussing conditions, he said.

"There is little likelihood of an uprising so far-reaching and tragic as the Sepoy Rebellion of 1857, but outbreaks here and there are sure to occur. It is an interesting aspect of the situation that in the localities where trouble has already broken out the people are more sober and cautious than in North India. There the people are in an earlier stage of the movement. They still believe the stories told in their villages by the travelling agitators to the effect that Gandhi has stopped the train service of the entire country and things are at a complete standstill.

"At Muradabad a member of the Supreme Legislative Council, on his way home from Delhi, said to one of my associates. 'I was one of the thirty-three members who voted against the measure expressing confidence in the Government. But since I came away it has occurred to me that practically all thirty-three of those votes were cast by members from Upper India, where there have been no disturbances as yet. And the men who voted confidence in the Government were from such places as Bombay, Madras and other sections where there have been disturbances. In the light of these facts, I believe I made a mistake, and if I had it to do over again I would vote for confidence.' The tenor of this man's remarks was that, under the severest test of actual upheaval, the Government had made good, using rare patience and restraint.

"I believe this is true. The Government had behaved with extreme patience and restraint in my own observation. Any one who travels through India nowadays would come to that conclusion, providing he knew the entire situation in each case. There have been many hasty glances at this very complicated question. The freedom movement in India manifests itself in constant insults to Europeans. Personally, I have been spared much notice, save on a single occasion, which was not violent in any way.

"The hypnotic effect of a rhythmical slogan has mightily aided the spread of the Gandhi propaganda. It is: 'Mahatma Gandhi kijae Angrazon Ki Chhai,' which liberally translated, means: Victory to the great-souled Gandhi and destruction to the English.' Crowds gather at every station as the train comes in and shout this jingle over and over again, especially at any Government official or other European they see at the window. But the officials have strict orders not to notice this, and they obey scrupulously.

"British officials in India are seldom rash or upstart types, contrary to many stories told of them over here, and it is remarkable how the Indian people trust the Europeans' sense of justice. I have made it a practice to ask this question of ardent non-co-operationists I have met: 'If you had a case in court would you prefer that an Indian or a European set as Judge?' And they almost invariably answer immediately, 'European.'

"Many persons in India do not seem to know that Manatma is not Gandhi's name. It has been conferred upon him, and is usually used of legendary spirits of the Himalaya Mountains. I do not know of any other living man in India who enjoys it, and it carries something of the 'demi-god' idea. If he were to die now he would certainly be worshipped by many thousands of Indian people as a god, not only because of partisanship but also because the wild rumors which are disturbing India today are so exaggerated that his supposed deeds as told to the villagers already exceed the bounds of mortal prowess under the circumstances."
